

RESORT LAND OWNER DENIES PRICE OFFER

Times Is Informed
Dick's Dam Welfare
Body Never Discussed Purchase Price.

The Dicks' Dam Welfare Association never discussed a purchase price of the land owned by O. B. Flaherty, to be used for trespass purposes in the repair of the dam last winter, which is causing considerable inconvenience to the cottagers at the popular resort, according to a communication received by The Times from H. B. Flaherty, in behalf of O. B. Flaherty.

Cottagers at the Dicks' Dam resort declared to a representative of The Times, several days ago, that O. B. Flaherty, alleged owner of the land, refused permission to trespass on his land, in order that repairs might be made to the broken dam, and that a "fair and reasonable" price had been offered Mr. Flaherty for his land, which was refused. The cottagers further declared that they planned a premeditated trespass of Mr. Flaherty's land, in order that the case might be brought before an Adams county jury.

"No Price Discussed"

H. B. Flaherty, in a letter addressed to The Times in behalf of O. B. Flaherty, declared "no price had been discussed between O. B. Flaherty and the Dicks' Dam Welfare Association. This property is owned by Curtis Walton, of Natural Bridge, Virginia, with O. B. Flaherty as partner. All matters regarding the proposed sale are in the said Mr. Walton's hands."

Commenting on the previously stated purchase price of $5,000 H. B. Flaherty says: "Your statement that five thousand dollars is all that this property cost the present owners is in error. Water power experts have advised them as to its true value, and they are only desirous of protecting their title to the water right, any infringement of which will be contested."

Continuing Mr. Flaherty says: "Land is being bought and sold above the dam for speculative purposes, land that without the water is almost valueless, and prices have been paid for this land far in excess of any price asked for the milling property and full water rights."

Flaherty's Lett:

H. B. Flaherty's communication in full follows:

"Your issue of June 2 contains an article in regard to the repairing of Dicks' Dam.

"From your information it seems that the Dicks' Dam Welfare Association contemplates proceedings little short of confiscation of private property, and then endeavor to get an Adams county court to sustain them in their action.

"You state that O. B. Flaherty refuses to sell the property at a reasonable price, or to let the dam be repaired. No price has been discussed between O. B. Flaherty and the Dicks' Dam Welfare Association. This property is owned by Curtis Walton, of Natural Bridge, Virginia, with O. B. Flaherty as partner. All matters regarding the proposed sale are in the said Mr. Walton's hands.

"Your statement that five thousand dollars is all that this property cost the present owners is in error. Water power experts have advised them as to its true value, and they are only desirous of protecting their title to the water right, any infringement of which will be contested.

"Land is being bought and sold above this dam for speculative purposes, land that without the water is almost valueless, and prices have been paid for this land far in excess of any price asked for the milling property and full water rights."

STAGE SET FOR CHAMP CONTEST

Easton Plays Gettysburg High on Playground Here at 2 O'clock Saturday Afternoon.

The stage is set for the state scholastic championship baseball game on the playground diamond here Saturday afternoon between Gettysburg High School and Easton High School, winners of the western and eastern high school baseball leagues respectively.

The game will commence promptly at 2 o'clock, it was announced by Walter D. Reynolds, principal of the Gettysburg public schools and coach of high school athletics, and there is every indication that a record crowd will be on hand to witness the contest.

Tennant To Pitch

Prof. Reynolds will stake the game on his star twirler, "Jim" Tennant, who two weeks ago pitched a sensational no-hit no-run game against Lancaster High School on the local grounds, when Gettysburg trimmed the visitors, 6 to 0. Tennant will have the regular high school line-up back of him, the line-up which this season has brought a perfect record to Gettysburg High, winning 15 and losing none.

Easton ranks high in scholastic baseball and two years ago won the state championship. This is Gettysburg's first opportunity to cop the state trophy and the local lads are certain to give the best that is in them toward bringing the championship cup to the battlefield town.

Prof. Reynolds announced today that Gallagher, of Lebanon, behind the plate, and Pfeiffer, of Harrisburg, on the bases, will officiate at the game as umpires. At the same time, he announced the line-up of the Easton nine, which he received by telephone as follows:

Easton Line-Up

Paulson, center field; McKee, second base; Leidy, third base; Evans, first base; Hamilton, right field; Masdarina, catcher; Morrison, short stop; Guisley, left field; Trumble, pitcher, and Palsats, utility pitcher.

For Gettysburg the line-up will be: Moser, second base; McKenrick, shortstop; D. Bream, left field; Heiges, first base; Gardner, right field; Myers, third base; W. Bream, center field; Weikert, catcher; Tennant, pitcher, with Utz as second pitcher.

Easton lost one game this season in the eastern league, having been defeated by Catawagua, the same team that put Reading out of the race for the championship of the eastern wing.

Russia Plots Civil War in Northern China

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, June 5.—Information has reached the Associated Press pointing to direct Russian-Soviet participation in an impending arms struggle for the control of all China.

Preparations already made contemplate a civil war of major proportions centering in the northern provinces and dwarfing in importance the present disturbances in the south.

The ultimate political consequences can only be conjectured. The area of probable operations is in the sphere of greatest interest to Japan. In its last analysis such a struggle might easily approximate a war between Japan and Russia with the actual campaigning carried on by Chinese armies supplied from Moscow and Tokio.

URGE CHANGES IN CHAMBER'S CONSTITUTION

Fifteen Directors Instead Of 14 Asked In Memorandum Sent To Membership.

In order to correct apparent deficiencies in the present method of electing officers and directors of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce, the board of directors of the commerce organization is submitting to the membership proposed revisions of certain articles of the constitution.

The primary decision is to be made in Article 8, if the membership so decides, which deals with the election of officers and directors. Other changes follow from the revision of this article.

Proposed Changes
The proposed changes as summed up for the members by Millard B. Simmons, secretary of the chamber, follow:

"That there be fifteen directors instead of 14, five to be elected each year to serve for three years.

"That the treasurer be a member of the board of directors, as well as the president and vice president.

"That nominations for directors be made by a nominating committee, named by the president. A name may be proposed to the nominating committee for its consideration for nomination upon petition of 15 members in good standing.

"That proxies, authorizing the president or secretary to cast the member's vote, be furnished the membership prior to the annual meeting and election, in order that those members who are unable to be present may have their votes counted.

"That the president, vice president and treasurer be elected by the board of directors and its membership. This change makes the board of directors solely responsible to the membership for the conduct and administration of the chamber's affairs. The officers are thus directly responsible to the board, and are not divided as heretofore.

"That the annual meeting be held the second Friday in July instead of the first Friday. This change is made because of the fact that the first Friday in July always comes close to the Fourth of July and is therefore undesirable for any general meeting."

Members of the Chamber of Commerce are being urged to vote on the proposed revisions before June 15, sending their ballots to Secretary Simmons' office.

ENGAGEMENT OF LOCAL GIRL IS ANNOUNCED TODAY

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kissinger, Baltimore street, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ottilia V. Kissinger to Carl Baum, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Baum, Lemoyne, Pennsylvania, business manager of The Gettysburg Times. The wedding will take place in the early fall.

Miss Kissinger, a graduate of the Gettysburg High School is secretary to Millard B. Simmons, secretary of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Baum, is a graduate of the Harrisburg Academy and of Gettysburg College. He is a member of the S. A. E. fraternity. Mr. Baum became affiliated as advertising manager of The Times upon completion of his college course and was later promoted to business manager.

EXPECT SOME SEWAGE PLANT BIDS TONIGHT

No Bids Received By Secretary Kitzmiller Up To Late Afternoon.

Although no bids had been received up to a late hour this afternoon for Gettysburg's proposed sewage treatment plant, little concern was felt by Robert Craig, of the engineering firm of Banks and Craig, Harrisburg, that there would be no bidders when council meets this evening at 7:30 o'clock to open the proposals.

The bids for the proposed sewage disposal plant were to be forwarded to Charles B. Kitzmiller, secretary of the council, but up to noon none had been received. No bids will be taken after 8 o'clock this evening.

While Secretary Kitzmiller said he thought it strange that no bidders had sent in their prices for the building of the new plant, Mr. Craig, designer of the proposed system, said it was not unusual that no bids had yet been received.

Nine Plans Secured
"Nine sets of plans of the plant have been secured by prospective bidders at our office," Mr. Craig informed the Times this morning, "and I feel sure that we shall have four or five bids at the least."

The nine firms or individuals to take out plans for the sewage treatment plant are the New York Sewage Disposal Company, New York City; McLean Construction Company, Baltimore; Gannett-Seelye and Flemming, Harrisburg; Universal Construction Company, Harrisburg; E. C. Williams, Gettysburg; H. T. Brooks Company, Martinsburg, West Virginia; W. Harry Angle, Hagerstown, Maryland; Albert J. Boyle, Baltimore, and the Forbes-Murphy Construction Company, Baltimore.

Mr. Williams, the only Gettysburg man to secure a set of plans, is said by Mr. Craig not to be a bidder for the construction of the entire plant, but only a sub-bidder for construction of part of the system.

Several To Bid

The Harrisburg engineer said he knew of two or three of the prospective bidders who would bring their estimates to Gettysburg tonight personally, presenting them to Mr. Kitzmiller before the expiration of the time limit for the reception of proposals.

It is not believed that all of the construction companies which have lifted plans and specifications at the engineer's office will submit bids, although the councilmen hope that there will be more than two or three bids within the price limit.

WEATHER MAN SOARS TO 100

140 Persons Die in Country
From Heat Wave, Storms and Drownings Within Few Days.

Boosted to 100 degrees earlier in the week, the mercury in the recording thermometer of Colonel E. B. Cope, Baltimore street, returned to that point at 1 o'clock this afternoon, while Gettysburgians continued to swelter and scan the skies for relief in the worm of a shower.

But none was in sight late this afternoon, while the weather forecast from Washington, D. C., reiterated, "Generally fair and continued warm tonight and Saturday."

While numerous deaths and heat prostrations have occurred elsewhere in the country from the Mississippi to the Atlantic, residents of Gettysburg and Adams county have withstood the withering heat.

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, June 5.—At least 140 persons have died throughout the country in the last few days due to the heat wave, drownings and storms. Of this number 71 were in the territory east of Ohio and 69 were in several states from Ohio to Montana.

Deaths yesterday caused directly and indirectly by the heat were 36 in the east and 24 in the mid-west.

21 of the mid-west fatalities were due to storms in Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska and Montana.

The weather bureau today predicted no relief from the high temperature for at least two or three days.

LIQUOR RAID REPLETE WITH MANY THRILLS

Still Found in Operation; Trooper Falls
Through Barn Floor, Woman Hurt.

Thrills and unexpected situations galore were packed into a moonshine liquor raid by state and county police on a farm three miles west of Gettysburg, near the Lincoln Highway, Thursday.

Henry Gebhardt, an alleged moonshiner, escaped after an exciting automobile chase; his wife, to whom a son was born at the Warner Hospital at 12:45 o'clock this morning, is under arrest; the weight of Trooper Russell W. Frutchey broke through the second floor of the barn he was searching and Mrs. Minnie Miller, 52, Gebhardt's mother by a previous marriage, was covered with the debris, inflicting injuries which necessitated her removal to the Warner Hospital, and finally the raiders discovered a still said to have been in operation in the cellar of the home, together with eight gallons of alleged moonshine liquor.

Find Still Operating

The Gebhardts and the Millers live on the farm, which is just a small place, rather run down and in a state of great disorder, said the police. Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Gebhardt and the latter's two young sons were alone at the house when Trooper Frutchey and County Detective Charles H. Wilson appeared shortly before noon, Thursday, armed with a search warrant, to conduct the raid.

Having uncovered the still in the cellar, according to Trooper Frutchey, and put out of business, he proceeded to the barn to search for additional stocks of illegal liquor.

While the state policeman made a thorough search of the barn, Mrs. Miller was standing beneath what is known as the overshoot, when suddenly, and without warning, the floor overhead gave way under Trooper Frutchey's weight, boards and hay falling down upon the woman's head and shoulders, knocking her to the ground.

The state officer saved himself from injury by grasping to a solid beam and swinging himself to a more substantial part of the barn. Seeing the plight of the woman, he carried her into the house and called Dr. E. A. Miller. Mrs. Miller was bleeding from the nose and had suffered an injury to her shoulder.

Husband Escapes

While the state officer and Detective Wilson were ministering the injured woman, before the arrival of Doctor Miller, Mrs. Gebhardt was heard to shout, "Go away, run quick. The police are here."

Springing from the side of the injured woman, the officers were in time to see a machine hurrying away in a cloud of dust. According to the officers, Henry Gebhardt was operating the car.

Trooper Frutchey, leaving Detective Wilson in charge at the house, jumped into a hired automobile which had taken the raiders to the farm, and started in pursuit. Then followed a chase over some of the back roads north of the Lincoln Highway, in which Gebhardt kept "one hop" ahead of his pursuers.

Gebhardt abandoned his machine near McKnightstown and struck off through the woods, toward the South (Continued on Second Page)

"She must have fallen from the couch," the aged cripple told police. But they noticed her crutch and eyeglasses were spattered with blood. She was arrested and charged with murder.

Son Is Born

Officer Frutchey returned to the farm house after the vain chase, placed Mrs. Gebhardt under arrest and took her to the Adams county home, along the Harrisburg road, in view of her condition. Early Thursday evening, Officer Wilson and Trooper Frutchey visited the county home and served a warrant charging illegal possession of intoxicating liquor against the expectant mother.

At 10 o'clock, Thursday night, Mrs. Gebhardt was removed to the Warner hospital and three hours later a son was born to her.

About mid-afternoon, Thursday, Dr. C. G. Crist was called to the Gebhardt farm to attend to Mrs. Miller, whose condition was reported to be serious. After examining the patient, Dr. Crist advised her removal to the Warner hospital, where she was admitted at 3:45 o'clock. Contusions about the head and body were Mrs. Miller's only injuries it was found at the institution, although she suffered from loss of blood and shock.

State troopers today renewed their search for Gebhardt, but up to a late hour this afternoon he was still at large. He will be charged with the illegal manufacture and possession of intoxicating liquor when he is located, police said.

VETS TO ATTEND UNVEILING OF NEW MONT ALTO TABLET

A large delegation from the Albert J. Lentz American Legion post here is expected to attend the unveiling Saturday afternoon at Mont Alto of a tablet in memory of ex-service men of the World War who have died at the sanatorium. The exercises will start at 3 o'clock.

The tablet is erected by the ex-service men and women among the patients, staff and employees at the sanatorium and will be dedicated with impressive ceremonies.

Several Speakers

The program for the afternoon includes addresses by C. H. Clippinger, district attorney of Franklin county; Dr. W. G. Turnbull, deputy commissioner of health of Pennsylvania; General E. C. Shanon, twenty-eighth division; Colonel C. Blaine Smathers, superintendent of the Scotland School for Orphans of Soldiers, at Scotland, Pennsylvania, and others. The crack band from the Scotland school will furnish the music for the occasion.

The tablet is located at the main entrance of the sanatorium, opposite the South Mountain post office and near the monuments erected there to the memory of Dr. Samuel G. Dixon and Dr. Joseph G. Rothrock. A beautiful bronze tablet, highly ornamental, adorns the stone tablet.

70 Patients

The veterans' organization of the sanatorium, composed of 70 ex-service men who are patients there, is working hard for the successful carrying out of the program. The 1,000 patients and employees at the institution are looking forward to the event with the keenest anticipation. It is expected that a record-breaking crowd will be in attendance when the tablet is unveiled.

Just Take It Easy with a Portable Victrola

SOME time this month or next, we hope you will be one of the lucky ones to knock off a few weeks—and do nothing but enjoy life at its best.

He glanced at her in quick surprise. Was she asking him to leave the dinner table to do it? Lady Farquhar saw how colorless Moya was and came to the rescue.

"My dear, you are a little unstrung, aren't you?" she said gently. "I think we might find something more cheerful to talk about. We always have the weather."

Moya rose, trembling. "No. I know pleading from far above. His head was whirling and throbbing painfully.

Something warm and moist dropped into his eyes, and when he put his hand up to investigate the cause he knew it must be blood from a wound.

Faintly the sound of voices and of harsh laughter drifted down to him.

Presently this died away. The stillness was almost uncanny.

"Something laid me out, I reckon.

Must have been a bad whack." His finger found a ridge above the temple which had been plover through the thick curly hair. "Looks as though a glancing bullet hit me. Golden luck

it didn't finish the job."

He moved. A sharp pain shot through his lower right leg. Trying to rise, he slipped down at once from a badly sprained ankle. Every muscle in his body ached, as if he had been jarred by a hard fall.

"Better have a look around first,"

he told himself.

Groping in his pocket, he found a match case and struck a light. What he saw made him shudder. From the ledge upon which he lay fell away a gulf, the bottom of which could only be guessed. His eyes, becoming accustomed to the darkness, made out that he was in some sort of shaft, three feet or more below the surface.

Rotten from age, the timberings had slipped and become jammed. Upon some of these he was resting. The sprained ankle, by preventing him from moving, had saved him from plunging down the well.

He held out a silver dollar and dropped it. From the time the coin took to strike Jack judged he was a hundred feet from the bottom.

The flare of a second match showed him a wall ladder leading down, but unfortunately it did not extend above him except in rotting fragments. What had happened he could guess. Supposing him to be dead, his enemies had dropped the body down this deserted shaft. Not for a moment did he doubt who they were. The voices had been unmistakably Cornish, and even without that evidence he would have guessed Peale and his partner as the guilty ones.

Since he could not go up, he went down, moving warily so as not to jar loose the timbering upon which he lay.

Every rung of the ladder he tested with great care before he put his weight upon it. Each step of the journey down sent a throb of pain from the rickety ankle, even though he rested his weight on his hands while he lowered himself. From the last rung

—it was by actual count the one hun-dered forty-third—he stepped to the ground.

Another match showed him a drift running from the foot of the shaft.

Along this he dragged himself slowly, uncertain of direction but determined to find out what possibility of escape his prison offered. For two hundred yards the tunnel led forward and brought him up sharply at an impasse.

A cave-in blocked further advance.

"Check," Jack told himself aloud grimly.

He knew now that his situation was a very serious one, for he had been flung alive into a grave that offered only a slight prospect of escape. He was without food, effectively cut off from the surface of the earth, and none but those who had assaulted him knew that he was buried.

The alternatives that lay before him were plain. He might climb the ladder again to the timber ledge and keep pulling for help, or he might attempt to dig a way over the cave-in with his hands and his pocket-knife, trusting that the tunnel led to another shaft. The former was a chance pure and simple, and a slender one at that. It was not likely that anybody would pass the mouth of a deserted shaft far up in the hills at this season of the year. But it was quite within the probabilities that the tunnel led to some of the workings of a live property. Many miles of underground drifts were connected by intersecting stipes of adjoining mines. If he could force a way through the cave-in there might be safety beyond. To go moli-ng into such a place without timbering would be a dangerous business, but the crisis was one that justified any risk.

He took stock of his assets. Fortunately he had bought at a lunch counter a ham sandwich to stay his appetite during the night trip. This was still in his pocket, badly mashed but still edible. Five cigars were in the case he carried and upon his person all told he found eleven matches.

A little trickle of water ran through the tunnel and gave assurance that he would not die of thirst. His pocketknife was a serviceable one and he had plenty of physical strength.

Jack decided that he would eat half of the sandwich that day and reserve the rest for the second one. His cigars were precious luxuries to be indulged in once every twenty-four hours after he had knocked off work.

Adams Important Peach County Says Agriculture Expert

Approximately one-half of the 451 carloads of peaches, which were shipped outside Pennsylvania last year, originated in Franklin county, statistics announced today by the department of agriculture disclosed. Other important shipping counties were Adams, Berks, Montgomery, York and Carbon.

A survey of fifteen state markets showed that 102 cars of the Pennsylvania crop passed through Pittsburgh, Altoona, Wilkes-Barre and Scranton markets. Of the shipments outside the state, Ohio absorbed a large part.

During the year total receipts in the fifteen markets studied were 2,803 carloads of which about 60 per cent came from Georgia. Three-fourths of these moved through Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, with the peak of the movements in July. The Carolinas sent 2,310 carloads into the state last year, the majority coming from the Sand Hill belt.

Superintendent Ayers was appointed by Bishop William M. Bell, of Harrisburg. His selection was unanimously recommended by the Pennsylvania delegation to the conference. ## EXPECT SOME in person, the contractors will be on hand to answer any questions the councilmen may ask, which is considered good business practice. Also the successful bidder, may outline for council just when work will be started and when it may be completed.

Finished by November

Construction work is to be started within fifteen days after the company has been employed, according to the advertisement for bids, and, councilmen hope to have the outfall line of the sewer extended from the present sewage treatment plant site to the proposed location of the new plant, within six or eight weeks' time.

The sewage treatment plant itself is expected to be completed in its entirety and ready for operation by the first of November this year.

The extremely hot weather of this week has had its effect on Rock Creek's waters. With the lowering of the water in the stream the stench from the effluent from the present sewage treatment plant has become more pronounced and its odor permeates the eastern end of town whether or not the wind is blowing from the stream.

BUILDING A CITY
In the past, cities, like Topsy, "just grew." Some "grew" faster than others but in much the same way.
"But there is a new era beginning," says John Hilder, manager of the Civic Development Department of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in a report on "City Planning and Zoning."
"As the trained athlete who uses his brains as well as his muscles often beats a stupid man who is physically superior," he says, "so cities which utilize their advantages to the full and reduce their disadvantages to a minimum will win over competitors. Economy of effort counts in gaining a lead and in staying power. And economy of effort is due to use of brains. Our most progressive cities realize this and one way in which they apply their realization is by so planning their development that no natural advantage will be neglected, that handicaps imposed by nature or by their own mistakes in the past will be overcome or even turned into advantages, and that there will be minimum of wasted time and effort in the daily movement of population. When no city had a plan all were equally wasteful of their resources. If a few cities get good plans they will outstrip their rivals because for the same money and effort they will secure greater results."

BAD GOLFER WHO WAS GOOD
"I'm a golfer, St. Peter!" the spirit proclaimed,
"And of much I have done I am truly ashamed,
I have flubbed and I've dubbed to my pitiful cost,

"I've sliced and I've hooked and I've been in the rough,
Twenty years I've played golf, I've had trouble enough!
I've cursed when in sand traps, of that there's no doubt,
But I covered my footprints before I went out."

"I'm a golfer, St. Peter! just one of the mutts!
My sins they are many, I've taken three putts
Countless times when I shouldn't, My record is black,
But always the divots I cut, I put back!"

"I'm an old hundred shooter! I thought I was great Whenever I finished around ninety-eight;
I was slow at the game, I confess it to you
But I never refused to let others go through."

"Come in," said St. Peter, "come in and sit down!
Come in and I'll give you a harp and a crown:
I've a welcome for you, with the saints you may dwell,
For it takes moral courage to play bad golf well."

Killed by Fall

MISS EVA FULLER
Miss Eva Fuller, a native Callertonian and a dancer in a New York cabaret, died in a mysterious fall from the window on the eleventh story of her hotel.

Monday brought a large number of people to town. The parade formed at 3 o'clock and marched over the principal streets and then to the cemetery where the following program was carried out: Prayer, Rev. Paul Gladfelter; oration, Hon. W. H. Long, of Hanover; music by the band; benediction, Rev. Irwin S. Ditzler. The oration of Mr. Long was an able and eloquent one, and was well received.

—to regain Strength

EVERY man, woman and child wants to have strength and correct weight. It means the joy of living. To be minus strength and underweight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body.

More red-blood-cells! S.S.S. aids Nature in building them by the million! There are no unproven theories about S.S.S., the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities. Begin taking S.S.S. today. It will give you more energy, vitality and vigor and a more up and going appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

To Pay Tribute to Pioneer Settler of West Pennsylvania

Oil City, Pa., June 5.—Tribute to the memory of a pioneer settler of Western Pennsylvania, H. A. Smith, hunter and trapper, will be paid Saturday, when a monument in his honor will be dedicated near the Venango-Crawford county line between Franklin and Meadville. The monument is close to the site at which workmen on the Lakes-to-Sea Highway three years ago discovered the original tombstone buried five feet underground.

The old marker bears this inscription:

"A. A. Smith
Born Nov.
11, 1711. Died
September 1, 1777."

The workmen who discovered it realized the historic value of the find and preserved the stone. Since then William W. Splane, Oil City oil producer, has had a natural stone monument erected on the spot. This bears the original marker, a bronze tablet and a bronze bust of a typical pioneer, wearing the coonskin cap and buckskin coat of the time.

Is 3 Feet High

The original headstone is three feet, six inches high, two feet, three inches wide and eight inches thick and bears the inscription crudely carved in the surface beneath the figure of a cross. It is thought that a companion of the deceased pioneer and trapper erected the marker in honor of his partner.

A granite boulder, weighing several tons, found near the spot and supposed to have been carried down in the glacial period from a quarry of like stone in New York state, has been erected on a concrete base along the highway. The marker and tablets have been set in the front of this boulder. Around the monument for a distance of 20 feet a rough stone fence is being completed by workmen.

The bronze bust of the trapper is from a drawing made by Miss Margaret Lay, of Oil City. B. L. Stroup, of Coal Hill, near Oil City, a descendant of pioneer stock, was selected as the model for the medallion.

The bronze plate inserted in the granite boulder with the marker and the bust bears the following inscription in plain English capitals:

"Here, in the year 1925, this stone was uncovered while grading for the course of the Lakes-to-Sea Highway."

"Now, in 1925, it is re-erected and dedicated to the memory of him whose name it bears—daring hunter, trader, trapper, or, perhaps, mission-

TAX DECISION AFFECTS STATE

States Cannot Collect Inheritance Taxes on Estates Not Wholly Within Border Says Court.

Washington.—States cannot validly collect inheritance taxes upon gross estates, not entirely located within their borders, the Supreme Court ruled recently.

The court held personal property of the estate in other states should be deducted. Inheritance taxes paid to the Federal Government should not be deducted before the state tax is imposed, the court said. The decision reversed one of the Pennsylvania State Supreme Court decisions in four cases brought from Pennsylvania over the estate of Henry C. Frick, of Pittsburgh, who left an estate of $145,000,000. Pennsylvania imposed its inheritance tax without making any allowance for taxes paid upon that part of the estate taxes paid to eighteen states and to Canada, as well as the taxes paid to the Federal Government.

N. Y. Supports Penna. New York supported Pennsylvania, asserting that should the decision of the lower courts be set aside many millions of dollars would have to be refunded by these states which have been following the Pennsylvania practice of imposing the state tax upon the gross estate.

Decision by the United States Supreme Court yesterday that Pennsylvania cannot collect inheritance tax on the personal property of the Henry C. Frick estate in other states will not compel this state to refund any of the $1,978,949.71 which has already been paid to the state by the estate. The deductions for property in other states will come from $37,117,153.77 of the appraised value of the estate, which has not as yet been settled.

MERCHANT FINANCIAL WRECK "I am a financial wreck because of the expense of doctors and medicine for my wife. She has been a chronic sufferer for 10 years. Some pronounced it gall stones, some gastritis and some intestinal inflammation. I happened to read an ad of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and from the first dose my wife has steadily improved." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at People's Drug Store and druggists everywhere.

MANY OLD COINS ARE EXHIBITED

Pittsburgh.—A collection of coins of the United States from the time of the 13 colonies until the present day is owned by George H. Clapp, president of the board of trustees of the University of Pittsburgh.

The hoard was recently exhibited here. It includes tokens and other objects used as money in the early days of the colonies.

The most obsolete pieces of the treasure are several bits of wampum, made from shells found by the early settlers to be in use among the Indians as money.

Other of the coins are made from pewter. The collection includes almost every sort of coin issued by the United States, as well as continental scrip, and some pieces that were coined for use in Europe but circulated in this country after the foreign nations had declined to use them.

KEEPING EGGS DEMANDS CARE

Harrisburg.—Keeping eggs in warm weather demands great care in making purchases. E. J. Lawless, Jr., poultry marketing specialist in the department of agriculture, paid in suggesting methods that housewives might employ to have a supply of high grade eggs. He advocated purchase of eggs from persons or firms guaranteeing quality, buying of only one week's supply unless they are placed in cold storage, candling of eggs to see how they grade, keeping them in cool dry place, segregation from products which have distinct odors and direct purchase from the producer when possible.

Two Conventions In Wilkes-Barre

Wilkes-Barre, Pa.—Two state conventions are scheduled in Wilkes-Barre this summer. The first will be the Pennsylvania Association of Police, from August 7 to 15, with over 350 delegates attendance.

The Patriotic Order, Sons of America, will gather here the week of August 24, bringing about 1,200 delegates. Local committees are arranging numerous sight-see trips and entertainments for the visitors.

STARTS TO BUILD ONE BILLION DOLLAR FORTUNE

Tommy Tinker, twenty-one, but penniless, has to amass $1,000,000 by the time he reaches thirty, if the combined fortunes of his two crabbed old uncles, aggregating half a billion, are to be his. Furthermore, he is commissioned, if he wins out, to extend this capital to a billion.

The question arises can Tommy make good, and, in doing so, can he keep the affection of his present sweetheart? John Roberts has written an enthralling story of Tommy's adventures, disappointments, trouncings and triumphs. It will begin in The Philadelphia Bulletin, Tuesday.
